THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear,
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,
And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

Robert Frost's The Road Not Taken seems appropriate for the theme of the 1966 Archive as each Valley Forge student faces untold decisions throughout his high school days. Some, or even most, of these decisions are trivial and insignificant. "What should I buy for lunch?" "What should I wear today?" Others, being important decisions, may determine what the student's future way of life will hold. "Should I take academic or vocational courses?" "Whom do I want to be my friends?" Decisions need not be difficult to be important; however, in many ways every decision made is significant because collectively they represent the individual.

Opportunity Requires

Decision

Deciding to study and learn is perhaps the most influential decision a student can make concerning his future. Once this decision has been made, the opportunities for scholastic development, regardless of the subject, are unlimited. The Valley Forge student has the resources of the entire school at his disposal. Success is proportional to the student's determination and will to learn. His counselors and teachers are always willing to show the way. The student's responsibility is to accept help to form his thoughts.

"And Looked Down One As Far As I Could. . ."

As well as teaching students details of a specific course of study, teachers also help to develop the student's way of viewing life in perspective. This friend of the student controls his ideas toward various matters whether they be related to school work or not. Therefore, the student forms opinions and, from these opinions, produces his outlook on life. This outlook on life generally commands the Valley Forge student's choice of "which road to follow."

FACULTY

Mr. David Smith
Principal

"We have a very enthusiastic, forward-looking staff, and I'm very proud of our excellent student body." Principal David M. Smith understands that the hopes of tomorrow lie in the progress of today—progress that can only be obtained through a faculty that looks to the future and a student body eager to meet the challenges of its age. With this goal of progress in mind, Mr. Smith has supervised and coordinated extracurricular activities, worked with counselors and department chairmen, and acted as the overseer of the many details involved in the running of a large suburban high school. Through creative thought and applied efforts, he has succeeded in maintaining an orderly and smooth-running system of education at Valley Forge High School.

Constructive, Creative

Clerical work is handled by Mr. Smith's secretary, Mrs. Hoelter.

Mr. Smith congratulates a National Honor Society inductee.

Giving final approval on school projects is part of Mr. Smith's job.

Mr. David Laurenzi
Assistant Principal

Taking a break from his duties, Mr. Laurenzi converses with Sue Dodick.

Atmosphere Maintained By Administration

Mr. Laurenzi and Mr. Smith work together on school business.

In order to achieve its hopes of progress, a high school often finds discipline a necessity. At Valley Forge, the role of disciplinarian is held by Mr. David Laurenzi, our busy assistant principal. In addition to aiding Mr. Smith in the supervision of the entire student body, Mr. Laurenzi provides valuable counselling and guidance to students, and acts as co-ordinator of the school-wide IBM system. Whatever service he is engaged in, he maintains a constructive attitude, and continuously strives to provide a pleasant and stimulating atmosphere in which students can learn and progress.

School Board Maintains High Educational Standards

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS, 1964-65—Mrs. Robert Schuster, Mr. Robert Brown, Mr. Norman Shibley, Mr. Thomas Hudgeons, Mr. Charles Chaffin.

Insuring the best possible education for students is the foremost objective of the Parma School Board. Serving as the policy-making body, the school board strives to advance and enhance the city's educational system.

Members of the Board of Education are civic-minded, impartial individuals who are upholding the traditional, high standards of Parma education. Members of the 1966-67 School Board are Mr. Robert Brown, president; Mrs. Robert Schuster, Mr. Charles Chaffin, Mr. Joseph Kral, and Mr. Charles Kovach.

Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Stuart Openlander, and Mr. Smith converse before the November Lake Erie League Conference.

Serving the faculty, the administration, and the student body, the secretaries at Valley Forge efficiently complete tasks in the shortest possible time. Throughout the day the main office secretaries greet guests, answer the questions of students and faculty, make appointments and channel all office calls. In the attendance office, secretaries handle college transcripts, work permits, absences, late-comers and the limitless problems created by 2,700 students. The routine and the unusual are handled skillfully by these secretaries.

Counselors Illuminate Choices

Vocational education counselor, Mr. Kuttler, discusses a scheduling problem with a student.

While administering a placement test, Miss Hanser and Mr. Reusch are amused by a sophomore's question.

In this day when the individual is often just a number in the oblivion of a computer, it is a comfort for the Valley Forge student to have an understanding counselor. The guidance office has room for only one student at a time. The student knows that his welfare is the counselor's primary concern. He wants the student to choose the right road to follow and to be successful and happy during and after high school. Any problem important to the well-being of a Valley Forge individual is significant to the counselors. For these reasons, the students respect and appreciate their counselors. Consequently, the Archive would like to show its appreciation to the counselors by depicting the significant role the guidance office plays in the life of each student.

Whether planning for the future, trying to understand the complexities of modern urban living, or adjusting to the academic and social pressures of school life, the student always finds the counseling office a place of understanding and peaceful reflection. The Valley Forge Guidance Department is dedicated to the philosophy of maintaining the identity of the individual student. The sincere student finds that he always has an interested, well-informed consultant to whom he may turn during periods of indecision and emotional turmoil. Since the basis for personal understanding is knowing one's self, the student finds the counselor's interpretation and evaluation of prime importance.

The English Department strives to instill in its students an appreciation of literature and an awareness of the essentials of creative expression. Sophomores analyze the traditional and the modern classics, Julius Caesar and The King and I. American literature introduces juniors to selections by writing personalities such as Steinbeck, Poe and Emerson. Seniors concentrate on creative and expository expression through writing compositions and reading masterpieces of English literature such as Canterbury Tales and Macbeth.

Dramatics and journalism enable students to contribute to school productions. This year The Sound of Music by Rodgers and Hammerstein and The Importance of Being Earnest by Oscar Wilde were presented. Students interested in journalism publish the school newspaper, the Battlecry; the literary magazine, the Anvil, and the yearbook, the Archive.

Valley Forge students have found the library to be a valuable aid in their studies. The library staff, headed by Mrs. Thelma Knerr, strives to keep the library resources up-to-date and readily available to every student. Books as well as current pamphlets, newspapers, magazines, and college guides have helped inform the student body.

Educational television was a new aspect of library service introduced this year. Via television, sophomores learned how to use the card catalog, the Readers' Guide and basic books of reference; juniors were introduced to American literature resources; seniors benefited from lectures explaining English literature materials.

History Classes Prompt Discussion

Teaching aids and innovations are outstanding features of the Valley Forge History Department. Offering courses in American history, World history, current problems, economics, government, and sociology, this department is designed to provide a study in depth of the past and present. Using movies and lectures to enrich the students' knowledge, the Department effectively produces original thought and educated attitudes. Through knowledge of history and human behavior, the student can intelligently interpret the happenings of the present and aid in the betterment of the future.

At the beginning of the year there were microscopes, candles, experiments and more experiments, stars and nameless rocks, ripple tanks and stroboscopes, and confused students with the desire to learn. Because the emphasis is on the student arriving at his own conclusions, he counted yeast cells, trampled through parks to study rock formation, and combined solutions to observe a reaction. Throughout the year pieces of the puzzle — points of information — synthesized so students could see a more complete, interesting picture of science. Under the direction of science teachers, experimentation and knowledge blended to form the compound known as science where conclusion means not the end but the beginning.

One of the most outstanding aspects of being a Valley Forge Patriot is the chance to participate in the various school activities. The vast scope of the extra-curricular program at our school gives individual students many opportunities to express themselves and to develop personal talents. Through determined efforts and valuable contributions, students have made each organization an important and integral part of the Valley Forge spectrum. Conversely, these activities have inspired greater mental and social growth in Patriots. Leadership, friendship, and co-operation have become the keys to progress at Valley Forge for, because of them, a strong and lasting school spirit has evolved. It is this spirit, coupled with the satisfaction derived from personal accomplishments, that has inspired students to work for the improvements of their school, their community, and themselves.

The Sound of Music Emphasizes the Fine

Being responsible for the dramatic productions of Valley Forge, the Thespian Club plays an important role in the school's extracurricular entertainment. The club is supervised by Mrs. Jacquelyn Mayer. A Readers Theater production of The Importance of Being Earnest was presented for club members. Interesting lectures and films concerning the teaching field ignited sparks of interest among members of the Future Teachers of America Club. Advised by Mr. Bernard Specht, President Diane Blanda led the club through a successful year of activities and fund-raising events. The Valley Forge chapter donated a physical therapy game to Thoreau Park School for the Handicapped and a Christmas basket to a needy family in the area. Members gained first-hand experience by student teaching two days in May. Hoping to present a scholarship to a worthy graduating senior, the club sponsored a dance and bake sales.

Learning to develop competent leadership and grasping office techniques were the goals of the Business Leaders of Valley Forge. Serving as advisers, Mrs. Chase, Mrs. Krueger and Mrs. Krempasky guided members in maintaining an efficient club and in making intelligent choices as to business occupations. Gary Toghill served as president of this organization which held a carwash and a bake sale to boost their treasury. Their main services to our school included the operation of the typing pool and the supply store.

Credit both on the job and in the classroom was given to students in DECA, the Distributive Education Club of America. Graded by their adviser Mr. Ronald Calabria and their employers members of this exceptional group worked at various stores throughout the city and participated in many events, including the Northeastern Ohio Convention in Akron. To raise money for their New York trip the group sold mums at football games and candy during the holidays.

Students in the Co-operative Education class received two credits for working both on the job and in the classroom. Advised and graded by Mr. David Straight and their employers, Co-operative Education students participated in business courses related to their jobs. Only seniors were allowed to enroll in this course. Students' activities included a booth at the All-School Party, a candy sale, and an after-game dance.

Operate Clinic Successfully

Carol La Possy, clinic aide, searches for a student's file card to check his health record.

Discussing the values of a medical career, seeing films on nursing, hearing speakers from various colleges, and touring a local hospital constituted the busy, varied program of the Future Nurses Club. The club advisers are Mrs. Shirley Maloch, the school nurse, and Miss Judith Sanders. Mrs. Maloch also supervises the clinic aides who help her in the clinic filing medical cards and administering simple first aid.

Our representative of the American Red Cross is Mrs. Minerva Alexander. She receives the work projects ideas from the Red Cross and then asks various clubs to help.

The Home Economics Club, one of the newer clubs at Valley Forge, is advised by Mrs. Myra Pinkley. The club's programs were based on the theme of furthering the members' homemaking skills. Using their sewing skills, they made friendship kits for the children of Vietnam.

Office page Rosemarie Gradine delivers a message to Mr. Rudo.

The main office pages increase the efficiency of Valley Forge. They aid the office personnel by answering phones, informing students, filing, and running errands. Because the pages willingly work during their study halls and lunch periods, the work of the office staff is lightened.

Attendance Office Pages must be able to execute orders with pleasant efficiency. These students agree to work during their free periods. Answering telephones, recording attendance, keeping schedules in order, and answering the questions are just a few of the many tasks pages perform. Working in the Attendance Office gives the student an idea of how one section of the school is operated.

Students Assist

Arranging and shelving books and keeping the library neat are a few of the tasks the library pages of Valley Forge perform. Advised by Mrs. Carole Snoddy and Miss Margie Smith, these volunteer pages answer questions and help the students whenever possible. The entire student body benefits from the service of the pages.

"Two dollars!" exclaims Mr. Sartini, Archon Hi-Y slave sale auctioneer, as he auctions off Dennis Baird.

Service projects and recreational activities are the main reasons why a growing number of Valley Forge men are taking an active interest in the Hi-Y program. Striving to fulfill the purpose of the Hi-Y, which is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, the high standards of Christian behavior," the five Valley Forge Hi-Y clubs promote community welfare through participation in various service projects. The United Appeal Drive, the greater-Cleveland clothing campaign, and the "Let Freedom Ring" program are among the many worthwhile projects of the clubs. Socially, the clubs sponsored hayrides, dances, contests and overnights.

Giggles and good times are only a small part of the Xanthian Y-Teen program. Under the direction of Miss Donna Buys and Miss Kathryn Shuck, the members worked to promote world fellowship. Striving to achieve high standards of character, the club participated in many service activities. Among these projects were: selling refreshments at the basketball games, collecting clothes for U.N.I.C.E.F., and assembling school bags for the children of Vietnam. The Christmas dance, a rollicking booth at the All-School party, an interclub discussion with the Hi-Y groups, and a delightful Mother-Daughter Tea highlighted the year.

Key Club Serves The Community

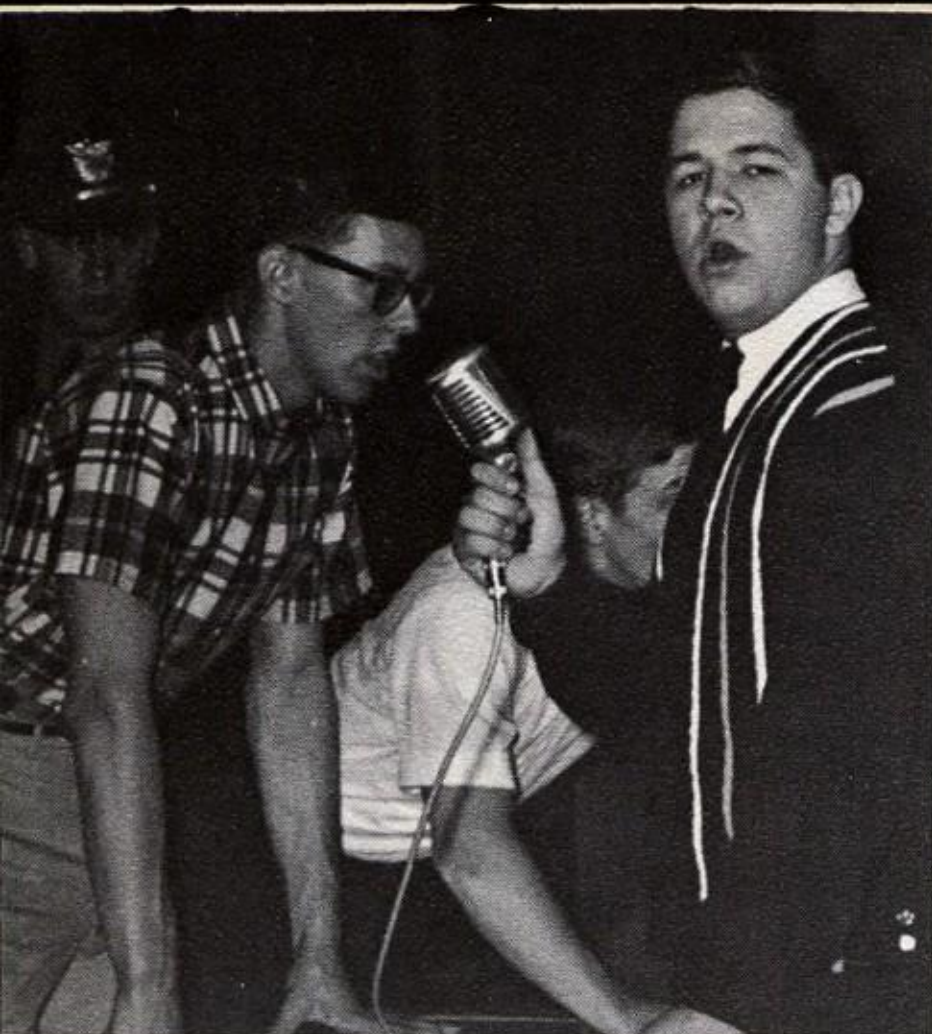

Serving the school and the community is the Key Club's purpose. The club has undertaken many worthwhile projects this year. They continued to assist a paralyzed girl in her exercises and cleaned the landscaped areas around the school. Their service to the community included participating in the United Appeal and Blood Mobile programs. For these and other contributions of service, the Ohio District Key Club recognized the Valley Forge Key Club as one of the top ten clubs in the state. The Key Club is sponsored by Parma Kiwanis and is advised by Mr. Schlemmer.

Students Investigate Machinery

Students who were interested in furthering their knowledge of automotive mechanics joined the Automotive Club. This year, as a special project, they assembled a car frame and engine, labeling its parts for display. The club, under the direction of Mr. Robert Kovacs, also sponsored special guest speakers.

Promotion of electronics experimenting is the basic aim of the Radio Electronics Club. Supervising members and assisting them in the creation of various projects is Mr. Carl Grolle, club adviser. Students who are planning a career in the electronics field find the club practical as well as interesting.

A Cappella And Girl's

The finest in choral excellence at Valley Forge was displayed by the 1965-66 A Cappella Choir. Mr. John F. Elliott directs the ninety-two melodious voices. Leadership and organization were given by this year's officers: President, Roy Hasbrook; Vice-President, Richard Boyer; Secretaries, James Meinke and Suzanne Ratzloff; and Treasurers, Suzanne Arndt and Kathleen Riley.

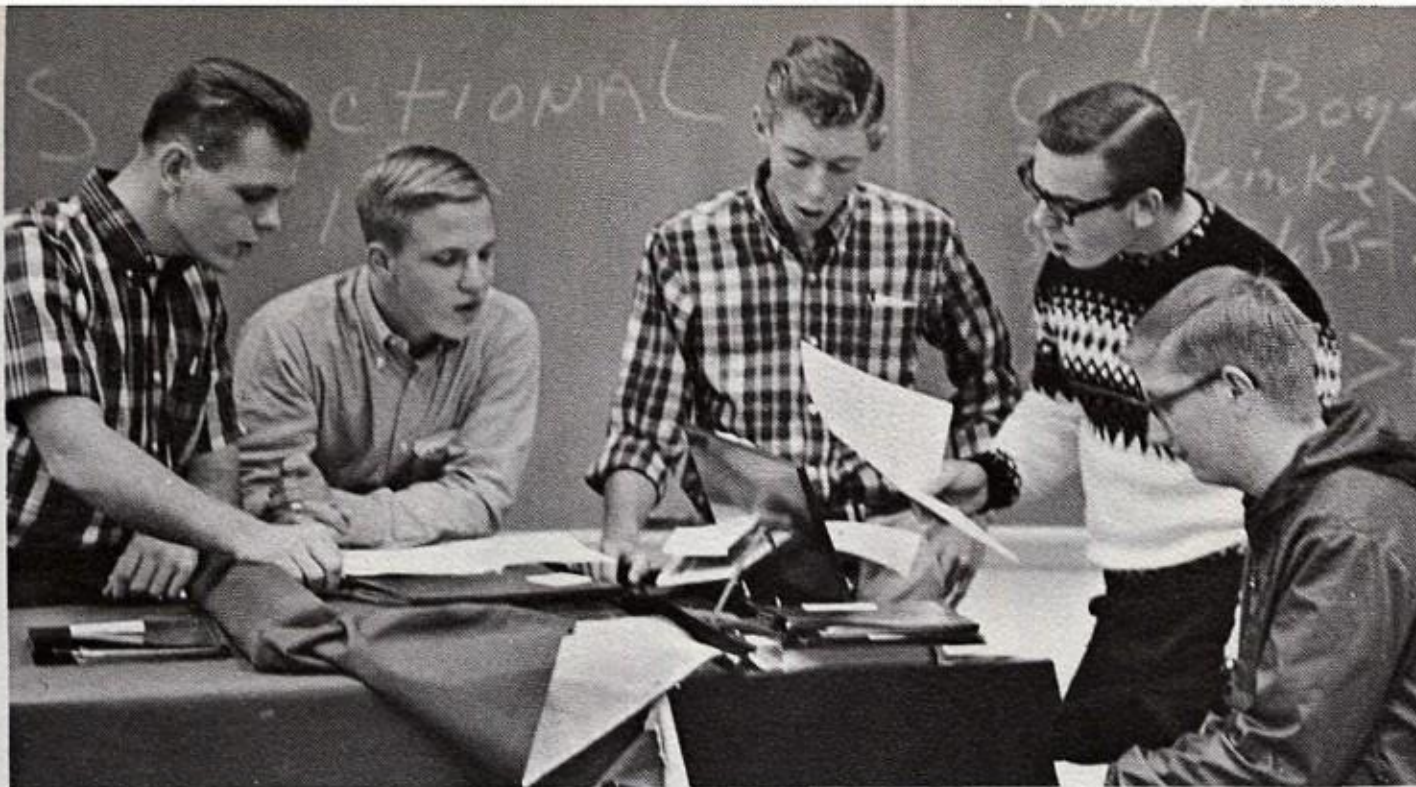

Besides the traditional concert, the Christmas season activities included a festive party and caroling at Parma Community Hospital and at the annual Parma Heights tree-burning ceremony. In the spring, A Cappella participated in the LEL Choir Festival and district and state contests. The A Cappella Choir ended the 1965-66 season with a spring concert and a performance at commencement.

To become a memorable performing group the Girls' Choir strived for exactness of blend and dynamics. The choir presented selections ranging from pre-classical to contemporary music. Mr. Elliott conducted the girls in the District Band and Choir Contest in the spring. The choir participated in local concerts and in the Sound of Music production.

The guidance of Mr. John Elliott, musical director, has brought the choirs of Valley Forge to their present point of excellence. During the year, the Girls' Glee Club worked with Girls' Chorus on secular and religious music, and the Boys' Glee Club perfected the tone and harmony of their music.

Comprised of selected A Capella Choir members, the Madrigal Club performed at school and civic functions. Singers were selected on the basis of their ability to sight read and the blend and harmony of their voices. Performances at Christmas and Easter climaxed long months of practice.

They Entertain

Members of the Valley Forge Orchestra rapidly discovered that being a musician requires more than the ability to translate musical notes into sound. Daily practice kept players at the peak of their abilities. In addition to the annual fall, winter, and spring concerts, the orchestra competed in the State Orchestra Contest, where they won a Superior rating from all four judges. Music from Bach to Gershwin found its place in the orchestral repertoire. Outstanding members of the orchestra took part in the Lake Erie League Festival and in the All-State Orchestra.

After football season the members of Valley Forge's Marching Band regrouped into the Concert and Symphonic bands. The Symphonic Band, under the direction of Mr. David Petrella, performed in concerts throughout the winter and spring seasons. Exceptional members competed in the Greater Cleveland Solo and Ensemble Contest which was hosted by Valley Forge. A performance at commencement completed a fine year.

Accomplished Musicians Strive

Mr. Cowden and the Orchestra graciously accept well deserved applause.

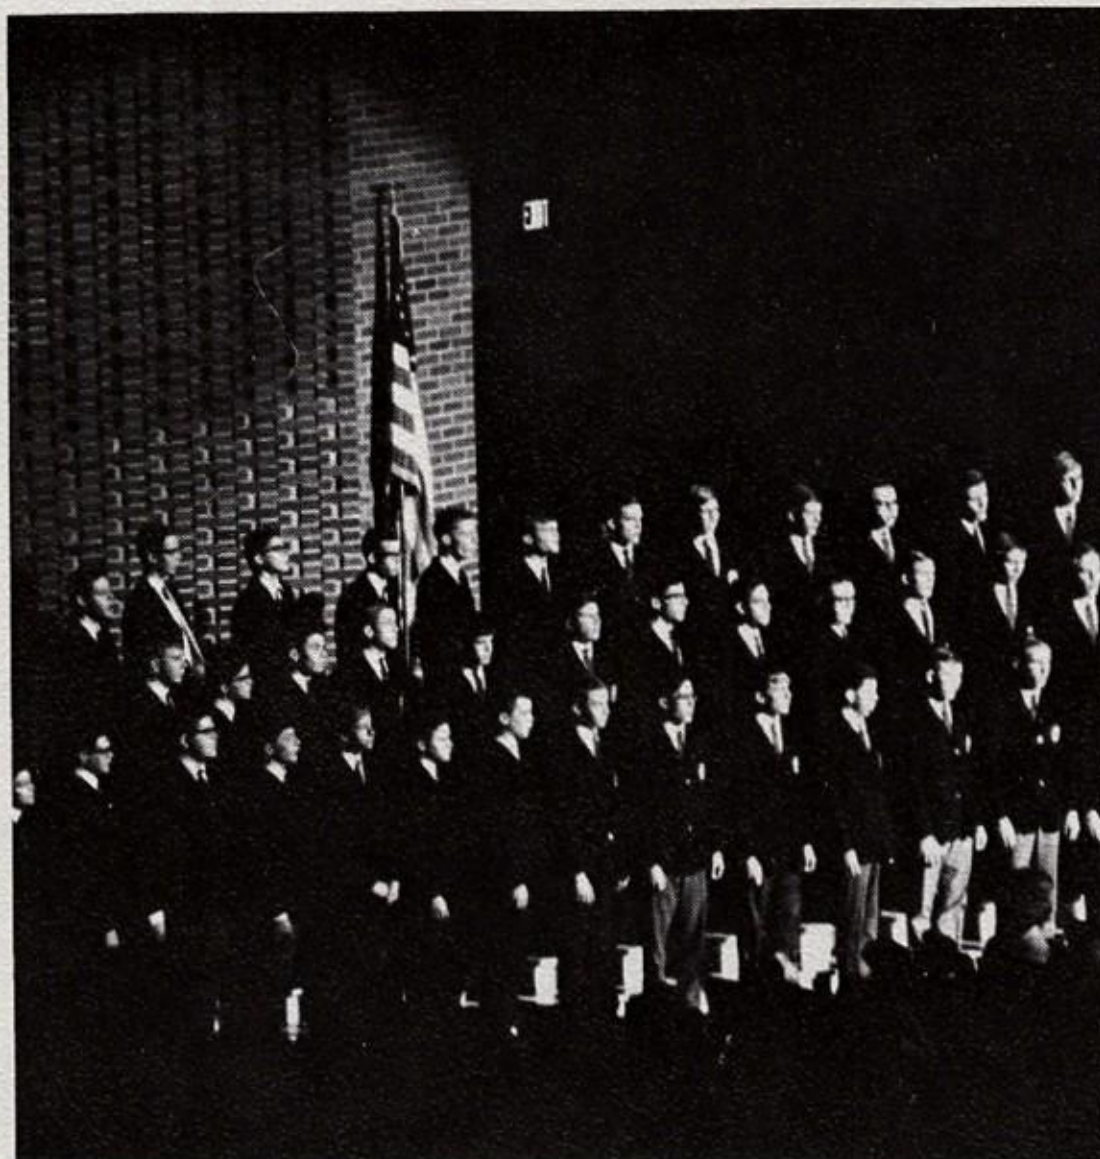

Concert Band displayed its musical talent in concert performances in February and May. Members of the band, along with Symphonic Band and Orchestra, acted as moderators and guides for the Greater Cleveland Solo and Ensemble contest which Valley Forge hosted in February. Members also participated in the competition. In all the events Valley Forge participated in, over 60% of the candidates received superior ratings. The varied presentations of this musically disciplined group appealed to many audiences.

Flashing across the field and performing precision drills and formations, the Patriot Marching Band appeared as a massive blue unit during opening and halftime game ceremonies. Harmonious melodies accompanied formations led by the high-stepping majorette, Sharon Kaminski and drum major, Jeff Kreutzer. Under the direction of Mr. David Petrella, practice sessions were held daily to enable the band to produce a polished performance each time it played. One of the highlights of the 1965 season was the presentation of the musical score from The Sound of Music at the Parma game.

Membership in Lettermen's is open to boys who earn a varsity letter providing they are willing to endure the initiation. Every other week after meetings, the gym is open and members are able to participate in basketball games. The Lettermen's Club, advised by Mr. Ramlow, participated in several school-service projects including ushering at basketball games and financing the purchase of assorted sports equipment. It also sponsored All-Sports Night and a dance as a fund-raising event.

Valley Forge Booster Clubs, under the direction of Mrs. Way and Mrs. Hall, sponsor many worthwhile projects and successful social activities. During the year the members sell programs and shakers. The weekly distribution of Booster tags supporting Patriot teams to encourage school spirit and enthusiasm is one of the club's main goals. The Homecoming float, a joint project of the Boys' and Girls' Boosters, won first prize; both clubs also sponsored a dance for the student body. The Girls' Boosters chartered buses to carry supporting Patriots to away games. During the football season, the Boosters held a pep rally and presented a skit for the student body.

Modern American social problems provide the basis for many interesting and informative meetings of the Human Relations Council. The Council, under the direction of president, Kurt Thornbladh, and adviser, Miss Lucille Shillat, participated in many projects, which include working with the crippled children at Camp Cheerful, caroling at the Wayfarers Lodge, and tutoring in underprivileged areas. Regular meetings, with films, guest speakers, and lively discussions, provided further opportunity for discussion, debate and action.

Working in conjunction with the driver education courses, the Valley Forge Youth Traffic Council is an organization which promotes traffic safety by working to inform students and faculty of the hazards and safeguards of driving. In connection with the State Highway Patrol and the Cleveland Automobile Club, the Council provides information on traffic safety through movies, assemblies, and the maintenance of a safety bulletin board. The Council exchanged ideas with other interested students during discussions at John Carroll University and during the regional meeting in Columbus.

Miss Ruth Kadow supervised this year's Notehand Club and its many activities. Some of the activities included taking a trip to Kent State and raising money for the library. The members raised money for the library by participating in the College Night Program, by selling bakery during the lunch hour, and by sponsoring a dance. The members of this club often return after graduation to speak at one of the meetings. Belonging to this club is a profitable experience for all Notehand students.

Our National Forensic League fosters students' active interest in speech and debate. Advised by Miss Barbara Greider, the Valley Forge Chapter is comprised of students who participate in various oratorical contests. Twenty-five points, accumulated by their participation in public speaking, are necessary for membership. Kurt Thornbladh presides over the club. Several members won awards of honor, merit, and distinction.

Debate team members meet on Saturday mornings to compete with students from local schools. Advised by Miss Greider, one of their goals is to achieve membership in the National Forensic League. This group merits many awards and trophies.

The goals of the Russian club included gaining insight into Russian culture and promoting the study of the language. Under the direction of Miss Holubec and Mr. Mechem, the club members viewed an evening vesper service at St. Theodosius Church and attended Russian movies at Western Reserve University. Participation in poetry-reading contests at Kent State and Western Reserve Universities, as well as attendance at a Cleveland performance of the Bolshoi Ballet were planned.

Encouraging students to develop an interest in Spanish was the main purpose of the Spanish club. Movies were obtained and speakers were scheduled.

Initiation of new members was just one of the activities in which the group participated during the year.

The Anvil is the Valley Forge literary magazine. It gives some of the students an opportunity to publish their writing. Every two weeks a nucleus of fifteen or twenty students led by the literary editor, Peter Renerts, evaluate short stories, essays, and poems. After consultation with Miss Crockett and Miss Viscomi, selections are made for publication in the Anvil. Art work for the magazine is done under the direction of Kurt Thornbladh, art editor. The business editor is Joyce Balint and the editor-in-chief is Marybeth Bogesch. The magazine is sold at the end of the year at production cost.

And Having Perhaps The Better Claim. . .”*

Although the paths of Valley Forge sports vary, all offer equal excitement and challenge to the participating athletes. Nine competitive activities plus a program of intramurals comprise the Valley Forge sports line-up. Five of these sports — football, tennis, basketball, baseball and bowling — base their action on the skill of the entire team. Whether the objective be a touchdown, a basket, or a home run, cooperation and hard work are necessary for victory. The four remaining sports — golf, cross country, wrestling and track — depend mainly upon individual talent. Determination and perserverance are the keys to success. Whichever sport is chosen, however, teamwork is essential; it is only through united effort that the championship results characteristic of Valley Forge are achieved.

SPORTS

With only four returning starters from the 1964 championship team, the '65 season proved to be a year of development for the football Patriots. The season began in a rather disappointing manner with the highly rated Patriots winning only one out of five games. However, after upsetting the Parma Redmen, the team's determination surged and they rampaged through the most demanding part of the season undefeated.

The Patriots startled their arch-rivals, Parma, and the L.E.L. by white-washing the Redmen, 12-0. Mike Textoris and Bill McCleave scored touchdowns for the decisive victory.

The following game, Dad's Night, the Forge defense completely smothered the Brush offensive effort for the Patriots second L.E.L. shutout. During the contest, the defensive team earned a two-point safety. Scoring eight points, the offensive attack was furnished by Joe Drago and Mike Textoris.

Traveling to Shaw, the Patriots captured another L.E.L. victory by caging the Cardinals, 16-12. The action elicited superb defensive performances. Phil O'Toole and Bill McCleave scored for the Patriots. Mike Textoris shattered three school records and provided field position for the winning touchdown.

Tension culminated as the Patriots prepared to contend Cleveland Hts. for the L.E.L. championship. Although both teams had several opportunities to score, the contest ended in a 6-6 decision. The Patriot defense, holding Heights on down at the ten and the three yard lines, appeared to become a stone wall whenever the Tigers rammed the ball within ten yards of the goal line. The Tigers roared to a score the first time they had the ball. Undaunted the Patriots by traveling 72 yards in 10 plays retaliated immediately. Bill McCleave passed to Phil O'Toole for a seven-yard touchdown. The disappointing tie permitted Cleveland Heights to reign in the L.E.L.

Concluding the 1965 football season, the Patriots plodded to a scoreless deadlock with the Euclid Panthers on a rain-soaked field. Neither offense was able to operate efficiently because of the weather conditions. The Patriot defense overran Euclid to earn its fourth shutout of the season.

Behind driving interference, Joe Drago steps lively to escape the lunge of a Parma tackler.

J.V.'s Extend Winning Tradition

Under the experienced guidance of Mr. Preising, Mr. Cangelosi, and Mr. Courey, the Valley Forge junior varsity football squad continued its four-year victory campaign with a season record of eight victories and two defeats. The compiled junior varsity record over the four seasons is 39-7-1.

However, achieving a successful record is not the main goal of junior varsity football. The most significant aim is to provide valuable experience for the sophomores. Preparation for grueling varsity competition demands perseverance, knowledge of football technique, precision, and determination. The victorious season displayed that the sophomores will carry their talents to the varsity next year.

Harriers Excel In Relays

Superior relay performances characterized the 1965 Cross Country team. Patriot harriers would have taken first place in the Cleveland Heights Invitational, if an unfortunate mishap had not occurred. Although Mike Groenke, George Baronak, and Jon Fisher won the first three positions for a Valley Forge sweep, Mike Groenke was disqualified from the race because he skipped a marker. The junior varsity placed fourth at Cleveland Heights and second in the St. Joseph relays.

In the regular meets the harriers did not fair so well. George Baronak and Mike Groenke attempted to pull the team along with outstanding performances, however, the only Patriot victories were against Shaw and Cleveland Heights. In the words of Coach Mindek, the team just did not have the depth necessary for a winning season.

Cagers Bounce To L.E.L.

During the pre-game warmup, Jim Wolf shows his stuffing technique.

Although only in its fifth year, the Patriot basketball team reigned with Shaker Heights as co-champion in the L.E.L. A loss to Shaker in the first contest of the season did not discourage the cagers, but rather served as an incentive for victory. Following the Shaker defeat, the Patriots entered an eight-game winning streak, in which sophomore Rich Yurcheshen joined his brother, Will, to form an unbeatable combination. Directed by Mr. Broski, and Mr. Courey, the team triumphed over Shaw, Cleveland Heights and Parma. Another dismaying defeat to Shaker Heights narrowed the Patriot's title chances, however, the team secured the co-championship when Shaker lost to Shaw.

Inspired by L.E.L. all-stars, Jim Wolf and Roger Speck, the Patriots added sectional victories over Padua and Benedictine to their 16-2 record, but were vanquished by those Devils from Brunswick.

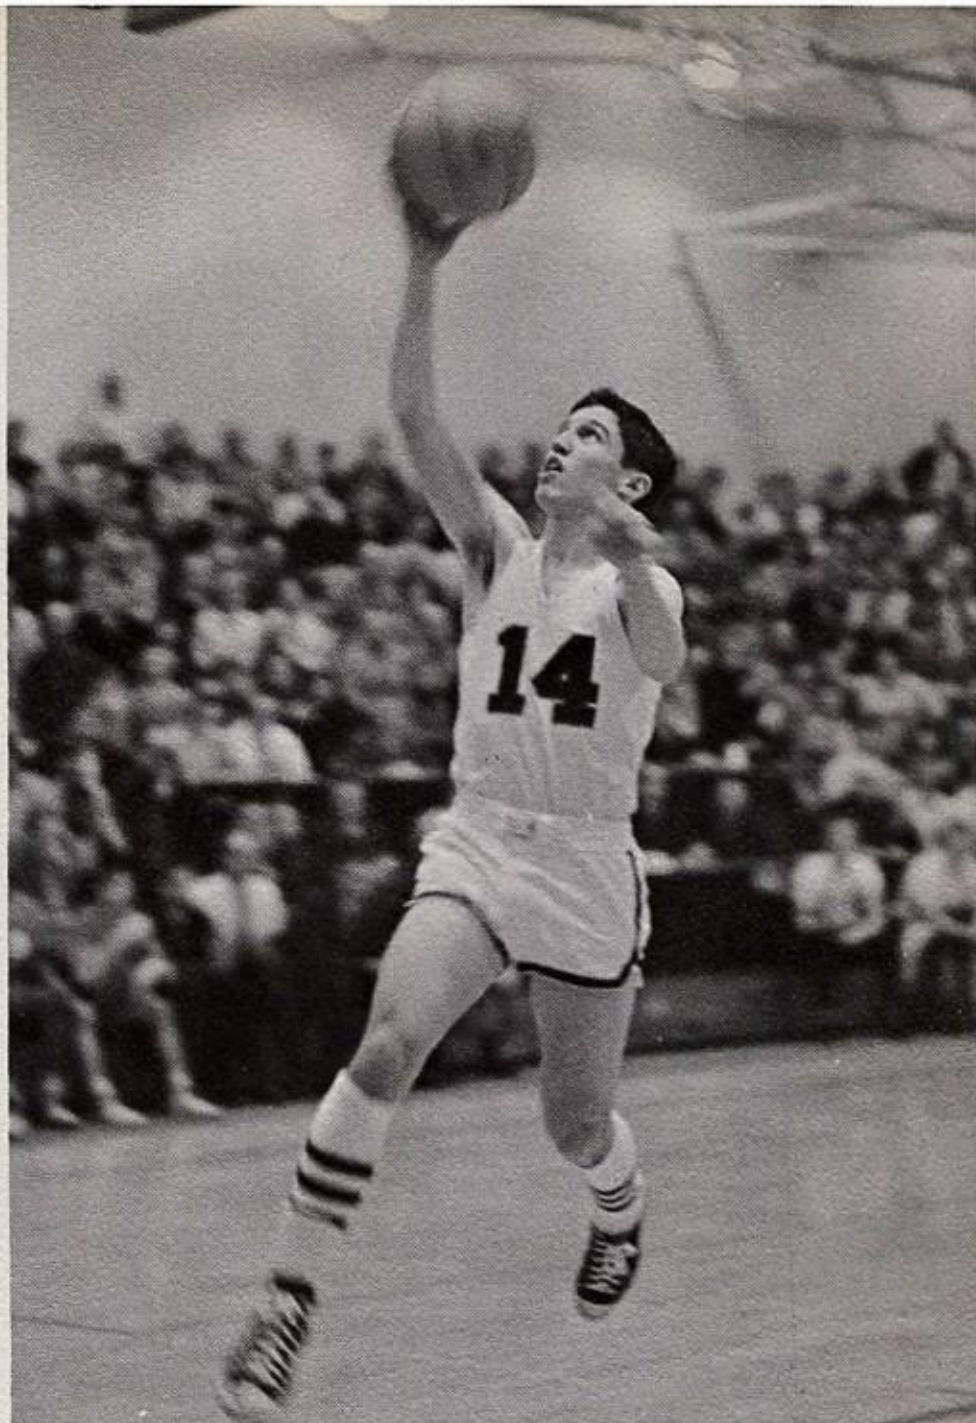

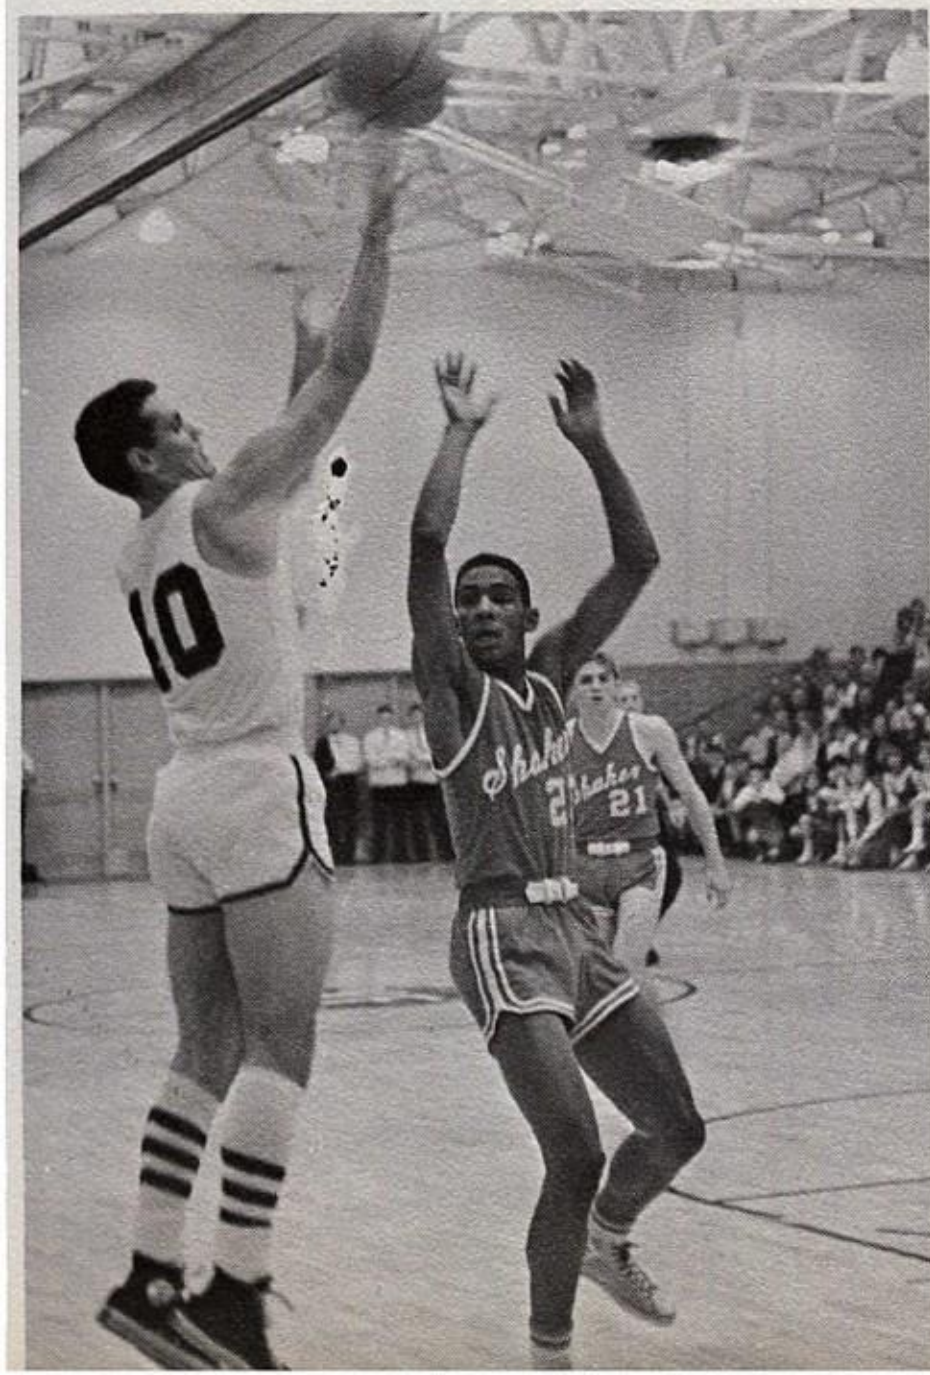

As Steve Ziats hustles to his position, Roger Speck sets up an offensive play.

Ken Mixer led the Patriots with a 185 average which was third-high in the league. Captain Jerry Docktor, with a 268, rolled the highest game in the league. The bowlers competed with twenty-four schools at Linz Superior Lanes.

Winter 1966 marked another winning season for the Valley Forge wrestling team. Coached by Mr. Rudo and Mr. Ruper, the matmen captured their third straight L.E.L. championship with a 6-0-1 record. The team displayed remarkable depth with ten of eleven varsity grapplers experiencing victorious campaigns. Outstanding leadership came from seniors Dwain Kibler (10-0-1), Joe Drago (11-1), Pat Sturtevant (10-1-1), and Ron Cooper (12-0). Contributing to the team effort were juniors, Lee Barylski (9-3), Mike Sawicki (8-2), and Woody Barry (9-2-1) and sophomores, Bob Lade (7-3), Tim Cahal (2-1), and Dennis Coupe (7-1-1). Kibler, Drago and Sturtevant won titles at the Brecksville Holiday Tournament. Sawicki, Barry, Drago, Sturtevant and Cooper grabbed sectional championships.

The high points of the season were Patriot victories in the Brecksville Tournament, in the Sectional Tournament, and in the Euclid match, where Valley Forge swamped its L.E.L. rival, 25-11. Mr. Rudo proudly stated, "Valley Forge has gained a reputation as one of the wrestling powers in this area."

Looking forward to a winning season, the 1966 varsity and junior varsity baseball teams began practicing in early March. Mr. Rudo, assisted by Mr. Broski, drilled the varsity for a month in preparation for their opening game. To develop an able squad, Mr. Younger's junior varsity rotated the use of the gym and practice fields with the varsity. In addition to match play at Ridgewood Golf Course, the linksmen hosted the L.E.L. Individual Tournament in June.

Intramural competition at Valley Forge gives every boy the opportunity to actively participate in his favorite sports. Under the direction of Mr. Preising, boys of each class and of varying abilities compete for recognition and trophies in a variety of activities. The intramural program includes: football, basketball, volleyball, skiing, track, and bowling. The competition is keen but the fun of participation is unlimited. The participant receives the satisfaction of winning a contest and the equally important experience of losing. The program stresses good sportsmanship; therefore, the student develops mentally as well as physically. Intramurals provide the chance for the student to demonstrate his skills, proving that physical exertion can be fun as well as beneficial.

Providing a greater enthusiasm for team and individual sports, Girls Intramurals supplemented the regular physical education program at Valley Forge. Directing and scheduling the intramural program was the job of the Sportheads, who were helped by the Officials club. To become a Sporthead a girl must have an active interest in sports and a willingness to devote time to the intramural program. Sportheads' responsibilities included scheduling teams and tournaments, keeping all attendance records, and setting up the equipment for each sport. Mrs. Sue Beck, aided by Miss Barbara King, coordinated the intramural program and advised the Officials and the Sportheads.

“Yet Knowing How Way Leads On To Way ...”

As each school year begins, new faces appear at the doors of Valley Forge High School. These faces represent the energetic underclassmen who are ready to accept the challenges of becoming Patriots. Valley Forge sophomores and juniors are the lifeline of the school. Through individual and group accomplishments, they form a vital part of the Patriot activity. Valley Forge underclassmen have a special way of meeting the challenges of their roles. They tackle and overcome problems, and strive to attain the ultimate goals which both they and their predecessors set. Juniors begin the process, and sophomores continue in their steps. Each class contributes part of its own character to the Patriot image, which personifies the ideal student; Valley Forge underclassmen are leaders in emulating this image.

Sophomores Commence Their High

Sophomores

Starting its first year at Valley Forge, the Sophomore Class quickly acclimated itself to the tempo of high school life. Inexperienced in the ways of a large high school, the Sophomores were coaxed into buying elevator passes, polishing seniors' shoes, and performing other curious chores. These trials became small payment for the exciting events of the school year. The school spirit contest, the successful J.V. football season, the excellent float for Homecoming, and the Sophomore Dance all have blended into pleasant memories. The experiences of its sophomore year have made the Class of 1968 an integral part of Valley Forge.

With a regal ceremony, a rollicking all night party, shouts of glee, and perhaps a few tears, the Class of 1966 will soon say goodbye to Valley Forge High School. For some, the future holds a college education; others are already on the verge of their lifetime careers. All, however, will go to meet the world sharing the common memory of what it means to be a Patriot.

As the school year comes to a close now, seniors will clean out their lockers for the last time and remove all tangible evidence of their years at Valley Forge. Their memory will not disappear from the school but will be strengthened as others remember those wonderful years.

SENIORS

Senior Class

Class advisors, Mr. Dunford and Mr. Shipman, guided the seniors in making many decisions. Class president, Brad Burgess, led the class by presiding over Advisory Board meetings, making announcements to the senior homeroom, and representing the Senior Class. Mel Radlick, vice-president, assisted Brad in his duties. Leslie Dahn and Gail Kulcsar complete the list of officers. Leslie's job was managing the class dues and the United Appeal funds. Gail recorded the proceedings of meetings.

The Senior Class of 1966 presents its officers: Brad Burgess, president; Melanie Radlick, vice-president; Gail Kulcsar, secretary; Leslie Dahn, treasurer.

Mr. Shipman and Mr. Dunford, class advisors, casually discuss plans for the Senior Dance which was one of many senior projects.

A familiar sight to seniors for three years was this view of Valley Forge High School.

Queen Judy Miller Reigns Supreme

Last year's homecoming queen, Donna Antonelli, crowns her successor, Judy Miller during half-time ceremonies of the homecoming game.

On October 1, with crowded stands on either side, Judy Miller was crowned homecoming queen for 1966. The petite blue-eyed brunette reigned over homecoming game festivities. These events included the judging of floats at the game and the Homecoming Dance the following night. Next year the graduates of the Class of 1966 will be in the stands, carrying on the homecoming tradition.

For many months senior homeroom contained a laughing, talking group of students.

Today We Follow- -

Tomorrow We Lead

We, the senior class of Valley Forge, have come to another point of diversion on the road of life. As we decide which path to pursue after graduation, the memories of our achievements as a class give us confidence in our abilities to choose wisely.

In the three years we have spent at Valley Forge, we have experienced many victories: LEL titles in football, basketball and wrestling; the superior ratings of our speech classes and musical groups; and the great success of My Fair Lady which led to the production of The Sound of Music.

Yet, it is not because of these honors that we cherish Valley Forge. A bus full of CP English students returning from a production of Macbeth, enthusiastic cheering at a crowded lunch table, the five-minute break between classes spent talking to friends in crowded halls—these daily experiences will be missed the most. The spirit of Valley Forge has been strong during the past three years, "... and that has made all the difference."

Editor's Letter. . .

In April of last year twenty-five enthusiastic but inexperienced students were appointed to various positions which they could not accurately define. During the next three months the new staff members learned what would be expected of them in the year to come by working with the previous editors.

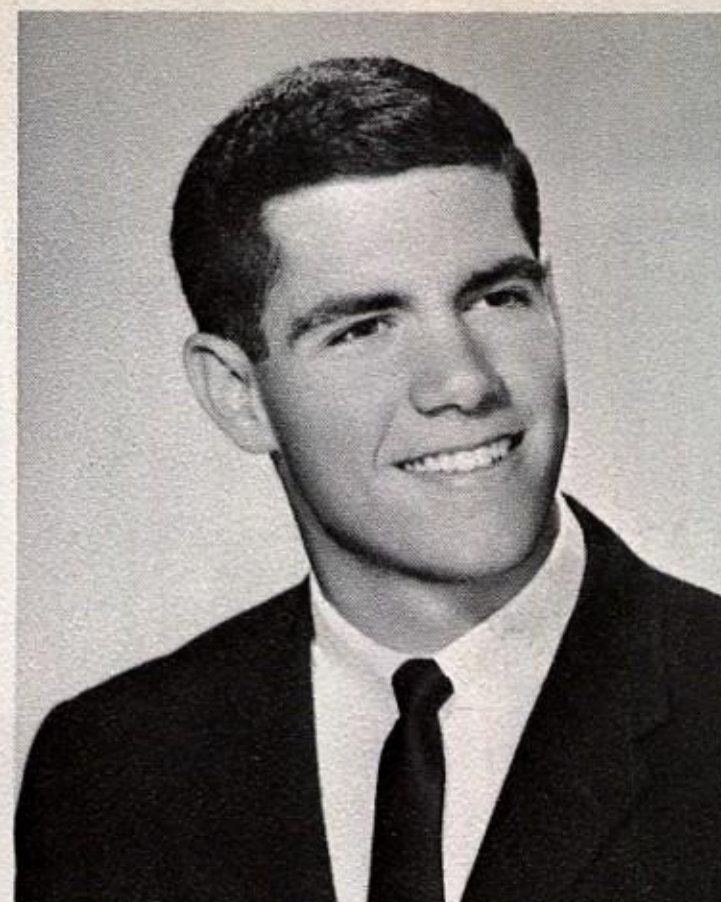

Formation of the book began during the early weeks of summer vacation. The editors met once a week, planning pages and working the theme into their sections.

By the time school began most sections were prepared for their final drafting. More difficult phases of yearbook production followed. During this school year many important decisions were made; hundreds of pictures were taken; endless copy was written and revised; captions and headlines were created; proofs were read, corrected and sent back to the printer. Ten months later these efforts resulted in this, your yearbook.

I would like to extend my thanks to the dedicated energetic staff with whom I have worked. Hoping to create an outstanding and memorable yearbook, these conscientious people have worked countless hours.

I would also like to thank Mr. David Smith for his valuable advice, assistance and encouragement; Mr. Paul Retrum of Art-master Printing whose creative and constant supervision has made unbearable tasks bearable; Mr. Edward Bonk of Stan's Studio for his outstanding attention to our photographic needs; Miss Barbara Irwin for helping to design the cover and assisting with layout plans; Mr. Irving Lloyd for his exceptional candid pictures of school life; Mrs. Lillian Heffke our Business Adviser for her able and efficient handling of financial matters; and Miss Suzanne Murphy, our yearbook adviser, who through her patient and tireless direction made this book possible.

Work on the 1966 Archive has been rewarding for me both in the personal satisfaction and in the experience gained. I hope the efforts of the staff is proportioned to the enjoyment that the student body will find in reading the book now and in future years.

Al,
It's been a real pleasure knowing you these high school years -
It was real good for me when you kept me hopping in gym.
Best of Luck next year & thereafter
Jes.

Al,
Is a really fantastic guy with a great personality. I'll never forget hearing you laughing in Miss Viscomi's English class 6th period while I was next door. Always remember our Senior year and all the events which took place during it.
Good luck with your job in the summer. See ya this summer.
Best Wishes,
Bob Petters

Al,
To a real mean gym leader - not really. Good luck in everything you do - you're gonna need all the luck you can get if you blow another softball game.

Good luck always
Tom Glennon

To a real great guy I've had the pleasure of knowing since 8th grade. Remember all the English classes, Gov't gym etc. May your wildest dreams come true for you, and may you always find happiness. Best of luck, and may God

Bless.

al,
I'll never forget the ride in the corvette!
let's some been a riot in flame socks. Juice. Best of Luck and God Bless you. RMA.

Al -
Always remember the years we've spent in school. It's really been a fabulous time yours. I hope you always remember the crazy "cool" times we've had in English. Best wishes for the future & see ya at West! May God Bless and keep ya always and deep Love
Harrison

Al, I thank you for all the times
you opened Carlo's Office for me and for taking me home for my term paper. You a sterm guy and its been a riot and first Period. Keep a trim and don't run too hard.

Always love ya.

"Two roads diverged in a yellow wood"

Al,
To a real swell
guy with a great sense of humor. I'll always remember the swingin' times in Gov't. class with Mr.
Miechem's melodious voice.
al, wake up! And I'll never forget your term paper?
Best of Luck to a deserving guy.
God Bless ya,
Carolyn
(alias Page)

al,
Good luck to a real great guy. Always remember that ridiculous track team at Forge. Have Fun in college.

(for sure)

Al, the guy who takes that home loan is a lot. I'll always remember your great English and your time in college.
P.S. Who did you ask for the poem?

Al,
To a real swell
guy. remember
the great lunch period.
Good luck in the future

THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

Big Al,
To a great guy
with a magnificent name.
It's been great knowing you these three years and having you in a class
one two. Good luck next year and in the future.
Take it slow especially on loose and women.

Best Wishes
Al
